

LOCAL BREVITIES.

An old lady named Deborah Perdue, who lived on the Walker Mill road, died suddenly yesterday of apoplexy.

The Gas Company is laying street mains on Ludlow avenue, Twenty-fifth ward, between the canal bridge and Spring Grove avenue.

About five o'clock last evening a small fire occurred at the entrance of Dan Rice's show on Race street. Gasoline flowing from a leaky can ignited, and this caused the alarm. The engines arrived but their services were not needed.

DANIEL STAPLETON, thirty seven years old, was killed yesterday afternoon in the yard of the Southern railroad by the fall of a derrick, on which one of the guys broke. The unfortunate man was crushed under the timber of the derrick. He leaves a wife and three children on Barstow street, Newport.

Mr. JOHN G. HOPKINS, of Annapolis, Maryland, a prominent citizen of that locality, and a most genial and clever gentleman, is visiting his brother in this city. He has carefully examined the Exposition in all its details, has visited most of the places of interest in and about our city, and is fully impressed with the importance of Cincinnati as a manufacturing and business point, as well as a center of art and culture.

The committee appointed by the Park Commissioners to go East to investigate pavements reported to the Board yesterday that the most desirable for the uses of the Board is that known as Filbert's Vulcanite, or Asphalt pavement. Filbert & McDowell, owners of that pavement, propose to have all the foot-paths and the Freeman street sidewalk of Lincoln Park for the sum of $120 per square foot. The total cost would amount to $11,400. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.
